“The framework approach to photocopiers was great, we were able to say what we needed to get the right mix of devices for the school’s requirements. The quotes were sent to us from different manufactures so we were able to look at all the different options and make an informed choice from there.

Now we have new photocopier technology working like clockwork. The advantage of using the framework process – everything was delivered in one easy to read e-mail with all the quotes in one place. No chasing for quotes at all, or salespeople ringing every day seeing if you are ready to order.”
